Building Access and Accommodations

The buildings and facilities used by the courts are fully compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). The court will strive to maintain and to improve building access and accommodations. Public hours of access for the Tazewell County Courthouse on court days are from 8:30 am until 5:00 pm.

Reserved Parking for Persons with Disabilities

There are designated reserved-for-persons-with-disabilities parking spaces located within easy access to the main (north) and east entrances to our facility.

Real-time Court Reporters for Persons with Hearing Impairments

Court Reporters capable of real-time captioning are available by prior arrangement in court cases involving persons with hearing impairments. Through this technology, the court reporter's symbols are fed into a computer which are then translated into the English language and appear on a computer screen to allow the person to read the testimony as it is being given in a court proceeding.

Sign Language Interpreters

Whenever a person with a hearing impairment is a party to any legal proceeding, serving as a juror, or called as a witness, the court in all instances appoints a qualified, nationally certified interpreter of sign language to interpret the proceedings. The interpreter shall be available through the actual trial and may accompany and communicate with such juror throughout any period during which the jury is sequestered or engaged in its deliberations.

Telecommunication Devices for Persons with Hearing/Speech Impairments

The Illinois Relay Center makes it possible for persons with hearing and/or speech impairments who are TTY phone customers to call persons or businesses without TTYs.

A person who uses a TTY types their conversation to a relay operator, who then reads aloud the typed conversation to the person at the other end of the line. The operator then types that person's spoken words and relays them to the TTY user. Illinois Relay is a free service, provided 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. All calls are confidential.
